

SOP for MBA from Canada

Entrepreneurial nous is immanent in all, but only those few privileged can reach the pinnacle of success who has been subjected to strategic nurturing of skills vis-à-vis prevailing conditions. Driven by the aspiration to build my own flourishing business in the long run, I intend to calibrate my capabilities optimally with an MBA from Canada University.

Apart from linguistic proficiency in English, Hindi and Telegu; I am admired for my incisive communication skills and commitment to pursue a goal indefatigably till its accomplishment. The seeds for these characteristics were sown in me during my formative years by superb familial upbringing as well as focused academic nurturing at school. My initial schooling took place at Bhavans Sri Ramakrishna Vidyalaya wherein the teachers inculcated in me the irrepressible urge to blaze my own trail through determination, perseverance, fortitude, courage to take bold decisions and not getting intimidated by apparent adversities. This initial grooming has certainly reinforced my subliminal energy to take risks. I went on to do my Intermediate from Narayana Junior College and Bachelors from Sreenidhi Institute of Science and Technology.

As a kid with impressionable intellect, the decisions taken by my father definitely contributed in shaping my perceptions. An incident that deserves special mention over here pertained to the time when my father purchased a second house. The decision baffled me as the present accommodation had been cosily catering to our familial needs. As days passed by, I could experience the pleasant implications of the decision in terms of additional income stream from rent and improvement in our standard of living. I could fully comprehend the need for taking such strategic decisions in life from time to time. Further, it occurred to me that such initiatives make us less vulnerable to vagaries of life and instil in us the power to anticipate and mitigate risks in reactive and proactive manners. Such insightful learning at precocious stage of life definitely served as the building blocks for my entrepreneurial spirit in later years. I now aspire to hone it further with dedicated conditioning through an MBA from elite institute.

My father had initiated me to the basics of entrepreneurship and now I aspire to take it to the next level with more value addition. Steadfastly chasing his ambitions, he became one of the founders of a modest company called Astrosoc in which he had worked in numerous profiles to make it stand on its feet. Equipped with my potential MBA learning, I feel motivated to start many more new breakthrough ventures.

My inclination for this institute stems from the unqualified renown it enjoys in the global academic circles. The aptitudes of professors are well-known and after going through some of the trendsetting publishing of them in leading journals, I am convinced that my academic grooming would be entrusted to most reliable hands. Driven by the short term objective of landing a promising job and long term goal of starting my own business, I am at the doorsteps of this premiere institute to secure my admission.
